Board of Trade Stage Banquet

The Board of Trade has a membership of 47 and of these 40 attended the banquet held last Wednesday evening in the Queen's Hotel Coffee Shop. This banquet was in honour of Mr. H. G. Gooderham who had during the past several weeks joined the Board of Trade. President Beach presided and suggested that all present stand and sing O Canada and after that the band played during a regular business meeting was held.

The financial statement read by the secretary showed that the organization was in an excellent condition.

After dinner, Beach announced that we were fortunate to have contracted to L. Michael for the necessary plumbing to be done at the swimming pool.

A sports day is to be held on Saturday, May 24th and the committee appointed at the previous meeting were instructed to go ahead with their plans and to hold a dance that evening.

Geo. E. Bell, M. L. A., gave an interesting address mentioning the plans for building and graveling No. 1 highway in preparation for hard surfacing. He also advised the Board of the proposed changes in the location of the swimming pool to Hon. W. A. Fellow in order to get the government grant.

The election of officers resulted in the following being elected:

President—H. Beach

Vice-President—Bob Brown

Sec-Treas.—James Wright

It was decided to hold regular meetings on the second Mondays of each month in the Community Hall.

Tom Brown and W. Blaney of the play ground committee were instructed to study equipment and the prices in order to be in readiness for future purchase same when it becomes available.

Uncle Kiffel offered to donate his services this season at the swimming pool on Wednesday afternoons and Saturday evenings. He will provide swimming classes. Oph. Amy suggested that there should be some time saving equipment at the pool. The matter was referred to the playground and equipment committee.

H. H. Moore moved and B. Brown seconded that Wednesday, May 1st, be declared a cleanup day for the streets and public property. This motion was carried. Private citizens will look after their own property and the council will provide the trucks to remove the rubbish.

Do You Remember Twenty Years Ago

T. Bates accompanied by several Gleichenites had a harrowing experience Sunday returning from Calgary where they went to hear Bishop Sherman. They were caught in the storm and their car stalled holding them to remain out all night. What daylight they found they were only about a mile and a half from Strathmore to where they were to catch the train home the afternoon.

O. H. Moe who is at present employed to Ed Menard's tonnorial parlor, is more than likely to be chosen among the capitalists in the near future. He is interested in the Moe estate in Gleichen, which is his brother's located as a homestead and upon which since February 1st three oil wells have been struck and four more are now being drilled.

Mrs. A. E. Jones is spending a short visit at Arrowwood with her son, Fred.

Mrs. Lyons arrived from Brooks to spend a few holidays with her brother, G. H. Gooderham.

Fred Williams was down from Calgary for a few days last week and met many of his old Gleichen friends.

Miss Vivian and Master Arthur Brown have returned from Carbon to spend a few days in town visiting their parents.

Bob Jefford and Sam Brown came down to us last week from Calgary and were delayed returning home by the big storm.

Means, Glen C. House, James Young and Bert Robinson left Gleichen Tuesday night for High Prairie in the Peace River country with three carloads of horses and mules, etc., which they will sell by auction. A number of the animals are the property of J. C. Means.

Alfred Sauve came down from Calgary Saturday night to visit his sister Mrs. Menard and took in the Firemen's dance.

Wm. Sauer has returned from the Calmar hospital and is still quite ill but hopes with a thorough rest he will soon recover.

Willie Ferguson won the bicycle contest staged by Ramsey Merens.

Miss L. A. Brown had the misfortune the other evening to fall off the steps leading to the cellar at her home and broke her arm just above the wrist. Dr. Farquharson arrived shortly after the accident and set the wrist.

Fear of disease and untimely death has been perhaps the greatest anxiety of humanity and people have realized the extent to which the need for this fear has been conquered by medical science. One of the dead diseases such as diphtheria, smallpox and tuberculosis have been brought under control and today only one prevalent disease cancer seems to defy all efforts and has rightly become the concern of all governments.

The federal minister of health drawled on the subject just recently in a speech when he said that deaths from cancer among Canadians was more than double our losses from war in the same period. He has declared a state of "total war" on the disease.

PRICE SECURITY VERSUS INCOME

We hear a lot these days about security, and the government has given our farmers price security in the form of wheat at $1.35 for their wheat grown in 1946 or until the crop is harvested. This is most beneficial to British Canadian wheat agreeablement. It is well to bear in mind, however, that this security is only price security—which incidentally to day is about 10¢ per bushel higher than the world market price for wheat. Unfortunately our farmers do not live on price. They live on income and neither our Canadian government nor the British government can afford to provide farmers with income security, for income depends not only on the price, but actually on price multiplied by the quantity sold.

Our farmers, there, might have price security and income security, but it would be difficult to find a market for their valuable selling aids, which would play their part in resource development.

How can we help our farmers? We have here in Gleichen, the kind which will cooperate, when the intent of the government is to help the community, and the agriculturist and profitless role. Communitists seek that newcomers, new residents usually place their communities in order and keep them as nearly in order as possible all the time.

Is it good to live in an unfavorable tendency that may retard our attractiveness as a residential town? Could we not give consideration to the staging of better homes without losing our present character?

There are many signs that Canadians realize, consciously or otherwise, this

Wednesday, May 7 Will Be Cleanup Day

Sponsored by the Board of Trade cleanup day has been declared for Wednesday afternoon, May 7th. This will clean up the streets and public property.

By May 7th, it is hoped that all private property will have been cleaned up and all will be able to turn out and help make the town presentable.

Since Wednesday afternoons are holidays there is no reason why they could not be a big turnout. If all turned out the work world be done in a jiffy and refreshments would be on order, namely, even in speed between the safe and dangerous accidents points, it is realized that every care is required.

Young people driving cars as well as older ones need to have the dangers of speed and carelessness brought to their attention. The Safe Driving Service does. They also have resulted in many schools forming school bus patrols for protecting of children when crossing intersections.

If one of the objectives of a community is to develop the morale of its members and to secure new residents, there should be an agriculturist and profitless role. Communists seek that newcomers, new residents usually place their communities in order and keep them as nearly in order as possible all the time. Is it good to live in an unfavorable tendency that may retard our attractiveness as a residential town? Could we not give consideration to the staging of better homes without losing our present character?

There are many signs that Canadians realize, consciously or otherwise, this the empire shall speak and act as a unit in international affairs and defence. This seems to be the policy advocated by Mr. Bennett. (2) Those who believe that we should act in these matters entirely as a North American nation regardless of the position this would place us with respect to our large and powerful neighbour, the United States.

Probably only a small minority believes that the United States probably sees extreme but a larger number are inclined toward them. The third school of thought disagrees still with the extreme position that there is today Canadian position standing, on which our people can unite? Is the question in many minds concerning this comlicated problem?

THE UNITED NATIONS

The problems outlined with respect to national defence are in some ways national Canadian problems, but now it is necessary to consider our probable international obligations through our membership in the league of nations if an international security is established. The Minister of National Defence, Hon. Brooke Claxton, stated that if the international organization is established on a basis acceptable to Canada, we will carry out the obligations.

The realities of our situation demand a defense policy primarily Canadian which will cooperate, when the intent of the government is to help the community, and the agriculturist and profitless role. Communists seek that newcomers, new residents usually place their communities in order and keep them as nearly in order as possible all the time.

Is it good to live in an unfavorable tendency that may retard our attractiveness as a residential town? Could we not give consideration to the staging of better homes without losing our present character?

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

Uncle Joe Has A Family

By M. J. COLLINS

THESSE lighthearts are all wings and no weight," Uncle Joe growled as he settled into the road chicken. "There ain't enough here for the four of us."

"I told you we could have a home! Here you can eat cold beef," Aunt Martha said sweetly. Uncle Joe scowled at the platter of sliced meat.

"I'm not hungry," Jeanne said. "I've never eaten this carping."

"Joe Quinn isn't ever going to learn how to carve?"

"Typical! It's him, it's him, it's him chunks, isn't it?" he bellowed. Aunt Martha's criticism wasn't going to ruffle him. This was his birthday and he was miffed.

"It's just a little birthday that was pending in the very near future—Jeanne and Ralph were expecting."

"By god, you Quinn's need some boy babies in this family, Ralph, you're the last link of the Quinn chain. You'll be a hell of a baby out of my wife if she threatened through a mouthful of white bread."

"At least they're going to have a baby, we never did," Aunt Martha said regretfully.

"Well," Uncle Joe responded. "We just weren't to have one, I guess." "When are you going to the hospital, Jeanne?" Aunt Martha asked before he could think of something else.

"In about ten days, the doctor thinks I should go in a few days ahead of time."

"I saw a young buck woman worked right up to the last minute," Uncle Joe informed them. "Motivation's the important factor."

"Look, it's the infidelity," Jeanne said. "Then, Ralph made him stay in there for awhile at least."

The baby was still unborn and he was worried. The doctor had assured him he'd had no pains so Aunt Martha made him go over to see him.

"You go over and get your chances in, and I'll be here when you come back," Jeanne said. "I know you won't be ready by then."

"I was busy it would keep his mind off the worry of Jeanne's infidelity," Aunt Martha said.

"I'm going to see him again," Uncle Joe responded. "I'll be back in a few days."

"Aunt Martha, you're always worried about me," Uncle Joe said.

"I'm not worried about you," Aunt Martha responded. "I'm worried about the rest of the family."

"I'm not worried about you," Uncle Joe responded. "I'm worried about the rest of the family."

Ralph and Jeanne in his grumpy way, goodness knew now how he'd act if Ralph and Jeanne had a baby. On her part, Jeanne would rather have a nice cuddly little girl.

Uncle Joe was splitting and piling firewood into the woodshed for the day when Jeanne came dashed through the door.

"Jeanne's in the hospital," Ralph informed them. "They're going to have a baby."

"How come? Jeanne isn't even going to learn how to carve?"

WEATHER DEPOTS WILL BE SET UP

ACROSS ROUTES OF NORTH ATLANTIC

LONDON—Safe travel for airlines traversing North Atlantic and Scandinavian routes will result from establishment of 12 floating weather stations.

These stations will collect information on wind velocity and direction to London.

They are being stripped of their armament and fitted with the latest radio and radar equipment.

Shower baths, comfortable bunks and recreation facilities are being provided for the benefit of the crew who will spend 27 days at sea.

When on station the vessels will be 21 miles west of Iceland.

TOWN AND DISTRICT

Frank McLean, a Gleichen farmer, now living in Calgary has been in town during the first part of the week looking after his business interests here.

Last Friday was pay day for our red brothers across the prairie. About $200,000 worth of pay was sent to the stores did great business that day.

While out at Arrowwood last Saturday Julius Little had the misfortune to fall head first into an eight foot deep ditch, badly wrenching his neck and shoulder.

A ladies auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was organized last Friday when quite a large number of ladies turned out to attend the meeting.

The United Church Choir entered.

Housecleaning Drives Empties Into the Open

Housewives Join Search For E. B. Bottles

Hundreds of housewives in Alberta's rural and urban districts reported today to co-operative associations to help search for E. B. Bottles, missing from duty for several months.

"Bottles," commonly known by the full name of "Empty Beer Bottles and other glassware," also known as "empties," may be found in closets, basement corners or attics. Housewives in their spring cleaning drives are searching these favorite haunts of "Bottles" in an effort to bring the fugitive justice. A reward of 20 cents per dozen for apprehension and recovery of "Empties" is offered by Delivers Limited.

Mr. J. E. Archibald, agent for Alberta Breweries reports present shortages are due solely to "Bottles" and that "empties" cannot be replaced at this time and anyone knowing the whereabouts of "Bottles" is urged to communicate with their nearest Deliveries Limited Depot at Edmonton, Lethbridge, Calgary, Medicine Hat, Barrie, Brampton, Camrose, Drumheller or McLean.

CASH REWARD

In Alberta either arrangements have been made for taking "empties" into custody and paying a reward at the household's home. At rummage sales, however, agents will insist that "Bottles" be "collected" to the nearest Deliveries Depot where they can be mailed immediately on recovery.

Flax In Demand

Canada depends on a bountiful supply of this fiber which provides one of the country's greatest deficiencies. The shortage is in flax and oils other than butter and recent information reaching the National Betty and Linseed Flax Committee at Weyburn, Saskatchewan, is that there are only a few weeks' supply ahead in Canada of these vital commodities.

Professor T. J. Harrison, chairman of the committee, has been advised that some eastern plants that handle linseed oil and linseed meal have had to close down for lack of supplies. This information comes as western farmers swing into the seeding season and shows how imperative it is that flax acreage be increased on the prairies to meet the demand.

The National Betty and Linseed Flax Committee has set an objective of 3,000,000 acres in flax this year, and the Dominion government, recognizing the need for expansion, has increased the price to 45¢ per bushel for the main season. This places flax at the top of a money crop.

Dr. J. E. Archibald, director of experimental farms for Canada, is most concerned over the critical situation in fats and oils in Canada and is lending his support to the campaign.

Dr. Archibald said that the large quantities of linseed oil being used made it necessary that Canada increase its flax acreage to two or three times what it was. There was a shortage of linseed oil for many purposes, including paints and varnishes, linoleum and other products. On top of that Canada had a protein shortage which was going to cripple dairy production, hog output and poultry production.

He pointed out that farmers in the west who had feeding grains could get along but eastern Canada had to have protein supplements.

Dr. Archibald said that Canada as a whole was facing a critical situation as far as fats, oil and proteins were concerned. They were essential in maintaining the health and quality of livestock, and livestock and poultry products.

Yours truly, tailed the members of the Community at a winter social held in Mansfield grounds last Tuesday evening. Every one reporting having had a good time. Mrs. Al. Wilson and Mrs. Bob Brown were hostesses on that occasion.

for Ottawa where he will represent the Blackfeet in a conference with the Dominion government officials. A number of other tribes also sent representatives. Here's hoping some of the laws regarding the Indians will be changed since they are away out of date.
